

NATIONAL COLOUR CODING SCHEME

CleanForce use guidelines set out by The British Institute of Cleaning Science's colour coding scheme. This uses different colour coded materials and equipment to help reduce, and in some cases eliminate, the chances of cross contamination of bacteria during the cleaning process. All our staff are trained in the use of colour coded cleaning.

The colour coding practices we follow are :

RED

Sanitary fittings and washroom floors

General low risk areas - office corridors etc

GREEN

General food and kitchen areas

Wash basins and washroom surfaces

YELLOW

There are occasionally instances when we need to use a customer's specific colour coded cleaning system and these circumstances we are happy to follow colour coded charts which enable specific cleaning for separated areas. We ensure that our staff are fully trained on the differences should the need arise.
